MBA SUSTAINABILITY MANAGEMENT Ihr Weg zur nachhaltigen Karriere!

The MBA in Sustainability Management addresses those with innovative personalities, and who are aspiring to higher stages in their career while integrating perspectives of sustainability in organisational success.

Develop a unique profile

The MBA Sustainability Management provides students with valuable business knowledge, soft skills and managerial competence. Moreover, this MBA program consistently addresses the implementation of sustainability as a challenge to organisational development. Program education on these topics optimally combines the strengths of established scientific research and application. A close connection to the corporate field is established through numerous exercises, case studies and real-life examples, as well as lecturers and tutors. Rhetorical, presentation and team working skills are important prerequisites for a successful realization of sustainability management. Therefore, this MBA program features seminars focused on interdisciplinary competencies.

The MBA Sustainability Management suits your needs best if you are:

- an employee or manager who aspires to implement the concept of sustainability into your organization,
- a company or a department which starts or expands a business with ecological or social goods,
- an expert consultant or an executive of sustainability in public administration,
- a business consultant who wants to introduce the perspectives of sustainability management to your clients,
- a human resource manager who aims at fostering sustainable development in your organisation or
- a representative of a non-governmental organization (NGO) who wishes to relate to paradigm shifts in business developments in a critical way.

Flexible distance learning through a modular curriculum

In addition to a "classical" study environment, CSM offers the MBA Sustainability Management as a distance learning program based on e-learning. Our concept enables students to do course work individually and for the most part independent from time and location, because most subject matter is conveyed in a blended learning format. This format involves an integrated concept comprising topical correspondence, seminars, multimedia internet courses, and both individual and group based work. The modular curriculum allows for great flexibility. Each semester, students may opt for the modules they participate in to accommodate their continuing professional work life.
